

Elopak EQS GmbH is a group company in the packaging industry with more than 130 employees and builds machines for the filling of liquid foodstuffs in carton packaging. Leading international producers from the milk and fruit juice industry rely on our products.

We guarantee our customers worldwide a comprehensive technical service as well as a comprehensive spare parts supply. In order to achieve our ambitious goals, we are looking for personalities who are prepared to take the next step with Elopak and to develop the solutions of the future in a strong team.

At the earliest possible moment we are looking for one Trainee (m/w/d) for the Technical Service

Your key responsibilities:

- Preparation of brochures for new products
- Business case generation for new products
- Communication in social networks
- Development of new tools
- Analyze customer data and create reports
- opportunity analysis
- Tracking of project execution

Experience / qualifications required:

- a university degree, preferably in engineering, marketing, business administration or logistics
- Very good knowledge of German and English (min. B2)
- Strong communication skills
- Strong interpersonal skills and personal drive

What we offer you:

- A modern workplace in a diverse international working environment
- A pleasant and collegial working atmosphere
- Flat hierarchies and an open door principle
- Flexible working hours

Have we piqued your interest?

Then please contact us. Please send us your application stating your availability and salary expectations to Oliver.Schaafs@elopak.com.